

Cup Lid Retaining a Sealed Media Disc

ABSTRACT

5 A media disc has a label face, a media retrieval face and a central aperture extending between the faces. A flexible wrapping covers both of the faces and extends through the aperture to seal the media disc. The flexible wrapping is typically a shrink-wrap. A beverage cup lid 10 has a central boss passing through the central aperture of the media disc to retain the media disc.